

LOVERS LEAP IN DEATH PACT

Jump From Clock Tower of Antwerp Cathedral to Feet of Crowds Below and Every Bone Broken

Antwerp, April 25.—A youth 18 years old and a 19 year old girl were the principal characters in a shocking love tragedy enacted here today. Arm in arm they climbed to the clock gallery in the tower of the Notre Dame Cathedral and from a height of 180 feet leaped into space, falling at the feet of passersby.

Every bone in the bodies of the boy and his companion were broken. As they hurtled through the air several men and women who witnessed the sight fainted.

According to the police the leap from the church tower was in accordance with a suicide pact.

The tragedy occurred at a time when the glove market in front of the north tower of the cathedral, was thronged with pedestrians, a large number of whom stood transfixed, helpless witnesses to every phase of the drama.

The youth and the maiden had purchased from the porter at the entrance door tickets of admission to visit the tower, from the eminence of which a wide view is possible. The porter noticed nothing unusual in their demeanor as he escorted them to the stairway and saw them start to climb the flight of 622 steps leading to the top gallery with its chimneys or ninety-nine bells. That the act of the lovers was premeditated is shown by the fact that they had placed five letters, one addressed to the police commissary and the others to various relatives, where they easily could be seen by visitors to the tower.

Entering the clock gallery, the couple climbed upon the stone balustrade. With hands clasped, they poised themselves for a moment and then leaped downward into the gloom, striking the flags close to the historic Matsy's fountain. Ambulances were summoned but the surgeons declared that the lovers had died instantly.

The letters found in the tower show that the youth was Elie Walkow and that his home was in this city.

The girl has not yet been identified. The letters it is declared stated that the young couple had been driven to their dreadful deaths because of a love affair.

More Bodies Are Taken Out of the Ruined Cincinnati Mine.

Pittsburgh, Pa. April 25.—Rescue parties working in the ruined Cincinnati mine of the Pittsburgh Coal Co., where an explosion occurred Wednesday afternoon, this morning brought 33 additional bodies to the mouth of the slope. Ten additional names were added to the missing during the night and while no official statement of the dead has been given out by the company, the loss of life is placed by those at the mine at 175.

Barred under the fallen debris the bodies recovered were found buried under the fallen roof and until the debris can be searched, which will occupy several days, the exact extent of the loss cannot be determined. The force of workers was increased this morning by volunteers from the district but as some parts of the mine are still filled with gas no complete exploration can be made.

Many of the bodies recovered were so mangled that it was feared they never can be identified.

RECOMMENDED AS MINISTER TO PORTUGAL

Senator Hollis Expects to Land the Place for Charles G.
Smith.

Charles Cagwell Smith, formerly an attorney of Kittery, Me., and later a resident of this city, and who now maintains a residence here but practices law in Boston, has been recommended for appointment as minister to Portugal. Senator Hollis called on President Wilson and urged his appointment.

"Mr. Smith," said Senator Hollis, "should have little if any trouble in being appointed. The very first minister to Russia was a New Hampshire man, Franklin Pierce, afterward president of the United States, and to Greece we have sent Minister Moses."

Smith's chances for appointment are further improved by the fact that no diplomatic post has so far fallen to New England and indeed no plan in other respects and President Wilson is anxious to honor New England somehow. So far as known there are no other men in New England who want to serve as diplomats.

Mr. Smith is a graduate of Bowdoin college and speaks Spanish and Portuguese fluently.

Congressman Reed took occasion yesterday to recommend to Postmaster General Burleson the appointment of Miss Grace Edna Emmons as postmaster at East Rochester. Miss Emmons is the daughter of Postmaster Emmons, who is a republican. In recommending her Mr. Reed called Mr. Burleson's attention to the situation in East Rochester. Mr. Emmons was recently stricken with locomotor ataxia and will be an invalid for the rest of his life. He and Mrs. Emmons are dependent upon Miss Emmons for their support.

Congressman Reed recently interviewed Postmaster General Burleson in behalf of several of his constituents in New Hampshire, with the result that now the citizens of Northfield get their mail several hours earlier than heretofore.

BILL IS SIDETRACKED. Bill to Increase Salary of City Auditor Held Up in the Senate.

Local advocates of the bill presented to the state legislature which would raise the salaries of city auditor George J. Murray and Clerk John G. Yarwood of the board of tax assessors from $900 to $1200 a year are disappointed by the failure of the senate committee on judiciary to report the bill. Early in the legislative session the Portsmouth delegation of the house, to which the bill was referred, granted a public hearing in this city and the bill did not meet with a sentence of opposition. The house speedily passed the measure and the senate referred it to the committee on judiciary. That committee is said to have had the bill six weeks. Members of the Portsmouth delegation who inquired as to the whereabouts of the bill were told by the clerk of the committee, they say, that the committee had forgotten the presence of the bill. Later inquiry revealed that some opposition to the bill has arisen but the source is not disclosed. The positions of auditor and clerk of the assessors are two of the most important in the city and the occupants of those offices are drawing about the smallest salaries paid by the city.

On Tip from Detectives Seeking Daughter, He Leaves at Midnight—Mrs. White and Mrs. Backe Registered at Hotel Taft, New Haven, Wednesday Night, with Young Girl They Called Their Maid.

All New England is stirred up over the disappearance of Romana Borden of New York. She is the daughter of Gail Borden, the millionaire proprietor of Borden's Condensed Milk. This morning The Herald received a wire from Boston that she had arrived in Boston and had left in a Boston auto for Portsmouth with two other women. A New York dispatch gives the following interesting sketch of her flight:

"Gail Borden left New York for Boston at midnight, after having received telegraphic advices from that city from detectives who have been following his daughter, Romana. He was accompanied by his attorney, Greenville Clark. 'An hour before he left the city Mr. Borden said that he intended to go to Baltimore on a business trip and that he was convinced that his daughter, with her two women companions, had doubled back to New York after having spent Wednesday night at the Hotel Taft in New Haven.'

"Immediately after making this statement Mr. Borden received a despatch from Boston which confirmed the report that the girl and her companions had proceeded to Boston from New Haven. He quickly got into communication with his attorney and they both left for Boston.

"Reports from detectives earlier in the evening caused Mr. Borden to say that he was confident of finding his daughter within forty-eight hours. 'Two women and a young girl registered at the Hotel Taft in New Haven late Wednesday night, one of the women registering the party as 'Mrs. William J. White, Mrs. T. A. Backe and maid.'

"It was a gay party. The women had been in the hotel but a few moments when it was noticed that the 'maid' was treated with the greatest consideration by both the others. The three occupied one room Wednesday night, which created comment in the hotel, as they were all modestly attired and evidently financially able to pay for three rooms.

"The descriptions of the members of the party coincided with the descriptions of the wife of the head of the Cheating Gum Trust, her Brooklyn friend and Miss Romana Borden, daughter of Gail Borden, head of Borden's Condensed Milk Company, who fled from a sanitarium and hopped into an automobile at Tompkins Lake last Wednesday, in which were two women, one of whom the girl accused as 'Helen.'

"After spending the night at the Hotel Taft the two women and the 'maid' had breakfast in their room and then took a taxi to the New Haven Railroad station. Their luggage consisted of suit cases only. When they boarded the Bay State Limited for Boston the two women bought seats in the parlor-car and the 'maid' was placed in a stateroom. Their destination was Boston. From remarks made by the women on the train, they intended to stop at the Hotel Touraine.

"A description of the girl in the party who posed as a maid was telephoned to the Highside School at New Milford, Conn., yesterday, and the opinion was expressed that the girl was Romana Borden. The president of the school said that Miss Borden left that institution a year ago and that there was no grief on the part of the school authorities when she left.

"Manager Blaney of the Hotel Taft said: 'There was a party comprising Mrs. White, Mrs. Backe and a maid registered here Wednesday. They left yesterday.'

Financial Transactions Between the New Haven Road and Its Subsidiaries Described

Boston, April 25.—Financial transactions between the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad company and its subsidiaries as indicated by their books were described today at the interstate commerce commission's investigation of the New Haven system, by David E. Brown, the commission's examining accountant.

Ward Prouty, said an examiner in the absence of his father, Commissioner Prouty, and by direction of the commission the proceedings were limited to the examination of Mr. Brown by Louis D. Brandeis. The latter appeared as a citizen of Massachusetts, having withdrawn his appearance as counsel for the Boston Fruit and Produce Exchange.

Mr. Brown testified that on April 8, 1907, the New England Navigation Company, a New Haven subsidiary, acquired 7455 shares of New Haven stock from the New Haven company at $200 a share in exchange for debentures of the Consolidated railway, another New Haven subsidiary, having a face value of $1,815,000.

At the time New Haven stock was selling in the market at 173 to 178. This transaction the witness said, created a capital liability by the New Haven of $7,405,300, and an investment value of $1,815,000, giving the New Haven a premium showing of $7,405,300. This and another similar transaction showed upon the books of the New Haven company an apparent profit of $5,590,300, while the Navigation company's records indicated that by selling the stock back to the New Haven at an advance over the original price a profit of $41,000 was obtained.

Other subsidiaries figuring in the exchange of securities described by Brown, included the Billard Company, the Rhode Island Company, the United States Transportation Company, the Maine Steamship Company and the Hartford and New York Transportation Company.

On June 30, 1912 according to the witnesses the Navigation Company held $15,000 shares of New England stock, valued on the Navigation Company's books at $34,659,657, or about $160 a share. Brown was unable to give the market value of the stock at that time, but comparing the book value of the stock on June 30 with the present market value he said the stock was worth 10,000,000 less than the sum credited to the Navigation Company's books last June.

Mr. Brown gave a lengthy technical examination to show that the comparison between the book value and market value did not indicate severe loss.

The witness told of the money remitted at various times by the Navigation company for the purchase of stock of the Worcester, Nashua, and Rochester railroad for President Melton, J. J. Billard, A. E. Robertson, Samuel Amesley, and J. S. Hemmenway, all directors of the New Haven road. These remittances were secured by demand notes at 4 per cent given by the directors named. The stock of the Worcester, Nashua, and Rochester, it was brought out during the hearing, was later sold to the Boston & Maine railroad, another New Haven property. All of these notes which aggregate on their face, more than $400,000, were subsequently liquidated.

The financing of the New York, Westchester & Boston consolidated railway company and the construction of its lines received considerable attention, and letters from President Melton to those who were connected with the construction of the road were read. Mr. Brown said that that the road was built at a cost of about $1,500,000 a mile and that the reports for the first two quarters of its operation showed that the operating expenses were in excess of the earnings.

C. F. Choate Jr., who attended the hearing in the capacity of a citizen of Massachusetts, as he expressed it did not question the witness. The sessions will be resumed Monday.

DIAZ NOT A CANDIDATE FOR PRESIDENT

Mexico City, April 25.—General Felix Diaz and Francisco de la Barrera, the Foreign Minister, last night definitely withdrew as candidates for the presidency and vice presidency, respectively. The reason given for their action is congressional delay with regard to the elections. The Chamber of Deputies on April 22 negatived the measure introduced by provisional President Huerta calling for elections on July 27. The deputies opposed the holding of elections until after the restoration of peace.

The War Department has received a report of the defeat of 1500 Carranza forces at Espinazo in the state of Coahuila by 800 Federalists under Colonel Riosado de la Pena. The rebels are said to have lost heavily. They fled to the north with the Federalists in pursuit.

Borrows $7,500,000.

The Mexican Government has floated a loan of $7,500,000 for one year at 8 1/2 bearing five per cent interest through Coutts & Co., bankers of London, according to information which apparently is reliable. The loan was arranged by Sir Westman D. Pearson (Lord Cowdray) and is secured on the Government's holdings in the Tehuantepec Railroad. The resignation of Garcia Granados yesterday as Minister of the Interior in all probability will be followed by the resignation of other members of the Cabinet who are disaffected at the postponement of the elections.

(Philadelphia, April 25.—The second half of the racket match for the professional championship of the world between Jack Soutar of the Philadelphia Racket Club and Charles Williams of England will be played at the Philadelphia Racket Club May 3. In the first half of the match played in London, Williams led by four games to two. The match was close and fast, the margin between the two players in the six games being only five aces. Soutar will have a big advantage in the second half, as the game will be played on his own court. Williams won the title from Jamsetji of India three years ago.

OLD GRANITE STATE WAS IN DANGER

New York, April 25.—The 55-year-old frigate Granite state, 4150 tons, one of the largest wooden vessels ever built for the United States which seemed doomed by the breaking out aboard her in the Hudson river at midnight, was saved from destruction early today, but not until serious damage had been done throughout the fore part of the frigate.

Dwellers in the hundreds of large apartment houses skirting the Hudson watched from their windows and roofs the uncommon spectacle for with smoke and flames puffing from the portholes for nearly three hours, it was a realistic reminder of the naval battles of the Civil and Mexican Wars, in which the Granite state, formerly known as the Alabama and the New Hampshire took part.

Roofed over like a mammoth house boat, the old warship has rested for the past few years at a permanent anchorage off 49th street, where it was used as an armory by the 1st Battalion of the New York Naval Militia. Commander Russell Raynor and 70 militiamen, asleep in their hammocks, were aboard when the fire, under great headway, was discovered in the paint shop.

Twenty-five of the men plunged quickly into the hold of the vessel and carried out two tons of ammunition and then all hands fought the flames. Ten men were partly overcome by smoke and were removed to a hospital, and one was forced to leap into the river when surrounded by the fire, but he swam to safety ashore. The city firemen, with streams from the land and from the fireboat, finally checked the flames.

The Granite state was built at Portsmouth navy yard in 1848, for an 84-gun sailing ship. She was 136 feet long 33 feet in beam and drew 25 feet of water. She was rebuilt in 1893 after an engagement in the Civil war, but she was soon sent out of commission, as the battle between the Monitor and Merrimack had demonstrated that wooden ships were obsolete.

It is hoped that all affiliated boards will be well represented, as the Milford Board is taking a lively interest in the success of the meeting.

REGISTRATION AT NAVY YARDS UNDER CIVIL SERVICE

Under the civil service which has been extended to the employees at navy yards the following instructions have been issued to applicants for employment at the several yards and stations:

A labor board has been organized at each navy yard or naval station, and at each separate establishment outside of the navy yards where the number of employees is sufficient to require it.

Applicants for employment at the navy yards at Portsmouth, N. H.; Boston, Mass.; New York, N. Y.; Philadelphia, Pa.; Washington, D. C.; Norfolk, Va.; Charleston, S. C.; Mare Island, Vallejo, Cal.; and Puget Sound, Wash.; the naval stations at Newport, R. I.; Key West, Fla.; and Pearl Harbor, Hawaii the naval proving ground at Indian Head, Md.; the naval training station at Great Lakes, Ill.; and the naval academy at Annapolis, Md., should make application to the labor board at the yard at the labor board at the yard or other establishment where employment is desired. Applicants for employment at the naval training station at San Francisco, Cal., should apply to the naval board at the Mare Island navy yard, Vallejo, Cal. The employment of labor at naval stations in the Philippine Islands, Cuba, Guam, and Samoa is not governed by the regulations upon which the information in this circular is based, and persons desiring appointments at any of these stations should apply for information to the commanding officer of the station where employment is sought.

Sec. 2. Qualification of Applicants

An applicant is required to show to the satisfaction of the labor board that he has the following qualifications in order to have his name placed on the eligible list for employment:

That he is a citizen of, or owes allegiance to the United States.

That he has the necessary knowledge of and experience in the occupation or trade for which he seeks employment.

That he is industrious and of good character.

That he is physically able to perform the work of his occupation or trade, and that he has no physical defect which will, as a contributory cause, tend to prolong a disability resulting from an accident or injury received in the performance of his work, or which would render him more liable to such accident or injury.

The age limits for employment are as follows:

Group 1.—See Sec. 1.—Boys between 14 and 18 years, if not in conflict with the laws of the state in which the yard or station is situated; otherwise to conform with the said laws. All others 17 years of age or over.

Group 2.—See Sec. 1.—Apprentices between 15 and 18 years, if not in conflict with the laws of the state in which the yard or station is situated; otherwise to conform with the said laws. Ordinance shipsmiths, blacksmiths, and angle smiths' helpers, between 21 and 23 years. All others 17 years or over.

Group 3.—See Sec. 1.—Riveters 18 years or over. Ordnance men 23 years or over. All others, 20 years or over. Positions embraced in groups 4 and 5 (a) (see Sec. 1) usually are filled by promotion.

Any of the following is deemed good cause for the rejection of an applicant or eligible:

Dismissal from the service for delinquency or misconduct within one year next preceding the date of application.

Physical or mental unfitness for the position.

Criminal, infamous, dishonest, immoral, or notoriously disgraceful conduct.

Making a false statement in any material fact, or practicing any deception of fraud in securing examination, registration, certification, or appointment.

Refusal to furnish testimony as required by Section XIV of the regulations governing appointments to the navy yard service.

The habitual or excessive use of intoxicants or deleterious drugs.

Any of the last five foregoing qualifications will be cause for the dismissal of an employee.

Application and Examination

Applicants for employment in Groups 1, 2, and 3, (see Sec. 1) will be received at the office of the labor board at the navy yard or other establishment on each working day of the year.

The names of applicants for positions named in Groups 1, 2, and 3 (see Sec. 1) but not appearing on the approved annual schedule of wages will be recorded and the necessary blank forms will be forwarded to them through the mails if there is need of eligibles in their trade or occupation during the year. Applicants for positions which appear on the approved annual schedule of wages will be furnished with the blank forms to be executed by them, which forms must be returned, properly executed, at least two weeks before the end of the current quarter, otherwise they will be considered in the next quarter.

The positions embraced in Groups 4 and 5 (a) (see Sec. 1) are usually filled by promotion. When they are not so filled they will be filled by an open competitive examination to be held, notice thereof will be given by publication in the local press and by posting in the navy yard or other place of employment.

For the positions embraced in Group 1, (see Sec. 1) application and examination form No. 1809 will be used.

Applicants for employment in the occupations embraced in Group 1 will be placed on the eligible list in order of the averages given to them on their physical ability, upon a physical examination which includes a strength test.

The relative standing of applicants for positions embraced in Groups 2 and 3, (see Sec. 1) will be determined by an examination comprising the elements of physical ability and training, experience and fitness. The ratings given to these elements will be based upon the applicants' statements in his application and open corroborative evidence. The relative standing of competitors in open competitive examinations for positions embraced in Groups 4 and 5 (a) (see Sec. 1) will be determined by the rating of the element of training experience, and fitness.

Eligibility—Appointment

Applicants for original appointment to positions in Groups 1, 2 and 3 (see Sec. 1) will be rated quarterly, and oftener when necessary to meet special needs.

Examination papers are rated on a scale of 100, and applicants will be notified of their ratings.

All applicants rated at 70 or more will be eligible for appointment, and their names will be placed on the proper register according to their percentage ratings; but the names of persons preferred under section 1764, Revised Statutes, rated at 65 or more will be placed above all others. (See 1764 U. S. Statutes to persons discharged from the United States military or naval service for disability incurred in the line of duty.)

The labor board will in all cases make further inquiries as to an applicant's character, habits, ability, and efficiency for consideration in determining the final percentage rating.

The term of eligibility is one year, beginning with the date on which the name of the eligible is last entered on the eligible list. An eligible who wishes to have his name reentered on the eligible list at the end of the eligible period of one year must be reexamined.

A register of eligibles will be prepared and maintained under each of Groups 1 to 5 (a) inclusive (see Sec. 1). The register under each group will be divided into three lists, as follows:

Forfeiture list.—This list will include the names of all who have been laid off for lack of work, or lack of funds, with ratings of not less than very good in workmanship and very good in conduct.

Preferred list.—This list will include the names of all eligibles for original appointment who are entitled to preference under the provisions of section 1764, Revised Statutes. (See Sec. V.)

General list.—This list will include the names of all other eligibles for appointment. On this list honorably discharged sailors, soldiers, or marines will be preferred for appointment in case of equality of ratings with others.

Each of the lists referred to above will be subdivided by trades or occupations, and notation will be made of any particular class of work or branch of a trade in which the eligible is most proficient.

The head of the department in which an eligible is appointed will cause such tests to be made as he deems necessary to determine the appointee's status in his trade or occupation, and will rate him provisionally as to pay. The final rating as to pay will be made within two weeks from the date of appointment.

In order fully to determine an appointee's qualifications, he will be first employed on trial for a period of six months. If at any time during the trial period of six months his conduct, or capacity is found to be not satisfactory, he will be notified in writing, and this notice will terminate his service. He will be ineligible for a period of one year in the same trade. He may, on his application, be examined in another trade. At the completion of the trial period of six months an employee whose conduct and capacity have been found satisfactory will receive permanent appointment and have his name entered on the list of employees classified under the civil service act and rules and be subject thereafter to the regulations governing such employees.

When an eligible is to be appointed he will be notified when and where to report for work. Any person who fails to report at the office of labor employment or to the head of the department to which he has been assigned, at the time designated, or who declines appointment, will have his name dropped from the eligible list.

The labor board may restate the name on the list upon the presentation of reasons which the board deems adequate and satisfactory.

An eligible must keep the labor board informed of any change he may make in his post office address. An eligible who does not comply with this instruction will not be excused for failure, in consequence of such noncompliance, to report for work at the time designated in the notification sent to him by the board.

Positions embraced in Group 5 (b) (see Sec. 1) require educational and technical qualifications, and, except in Guam and Samoa, are filled as a result of open competitive examinations.

Persons desiring information concerning these positions at yards and other establishments in the United States should address the United States civil service district secretary at Boston, Mass.; New York, N. Y.; Philadelphia, Pa.; Washington, D. C.; Atlanta, Ga.; Chicago, Ill.; Seattle, Wash.; or San Francisco, Cal. Information relative to the positions referred to at stations outside the continental limits of the United States may be obtained as follows: Positions at Guantanamo, Cuba, from the United States Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C.; at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, from the secretary of the board of civil service examiners, customhouse, Honolulu, Hawaii; at Cavite and Olongapo, P. I., from the director of civil service, Manila, P. I.; at Guam or Samoa, from the commanding officer at either station. All positions under the Department of the navy at Guam and Samoa are excepted from examination.

By direction of the commission.

The Railroad Investigation.

As usual the Boston press is condemning President Mellen editorially and in the news head lines without waiting for the other side. The friends of President Mellen, who have known him all their lives, believe in his absolute honesty. It is quite evident that the Boston press is behind the men that have been harassing Mr. Mellen for the past two years. The public will get the other side of the case in due time—that is, if it is printed,—but the way the other side is being "doped" for the public it may be difficult. Most of the war of figures may mean nothing, in fact, when the case is given in full. The average citizen is simply reading the headlines of this case and from these it would appear that Mr. Mellen had taken the entire cash receipts of the New Haven since he has been president. However, in due time the people will see what there is really to the whole matter and until then the Boston press should keep cool.

The Makers of War.

The Liebnicht revelations, whose essential correctness is unchallenged, furnish an adequate explanation of the recurrence of "war scares." The munition makers find them absolutely necessary. Otherwise the world might sink into chronic peace. Then what could a poor cannon maker do! How could he expect to leave the largest fortune of the German empire! For centuries the world was drenched in blood through the incitements of ecclesiastical establishments that desired to extend their power. Then the vanity of kings and a governing class whose trade was war led to the spread and acceptance of the idea that national glory consisted in having slaughter matches. The masses of the people have been taught by those to whom they looked for guidance that those living on the other side of a river or a mountain range were their enemies, to be feared and hated. But this doctrine, bad as it was, had the merit of being openly taught. It was foolish, but it was honest, representing anxieties and beliefs sincerely entertained.—New York Globe.

Wilson to California.

The telegram sent by President Wilson yesterday to the Governor of California and the presiding officers of both houses of the California legislature is a model of clear, temperate and dignified language. It is admirable both in its spirit and its manner. It is the protest of the President of the United States against a dangerous form of nullification; of a statesman and patriot against the effort of a state to repudiate a solemn treaty obligation binding on all the states, against a parochial insult to an international pledge, against an untenable discrimination to the prejudice of the citizens of a friendly country, against a stain upon the reputation and the honor of the United States. It is the voice of the nation, conscious of its responsibilities and its duties. May the President's words of truth and soberness find in California the acceptance that they are sure of in the rest of these United States!—New York Sun.

Mobs and War Talk in Japan.

Mobs are mobs everywhere, and no fair-minded American will blame the Japanese government or the intelligent elements of the population of Tokio for the inflammatory anti-American talk and threats of war indulged in by cheap and ignorant demagogues. One wonders, however, whether the Japanese press, the officials and other agencies of popular education are doing all that they can and should do to discourage the dangerous propaganda of the fire-eaters and jingoists. Is it being made clear in Japan that the United States government, including the courts, is prepared and resolved to enforce every treaty right of the Japanese? If California finally passes a bill involving a violation of any treaty right—something which no one ought to assume in advance—that violation can and will be prevented by proper proceedings. Is this fully understood in Japan?—Chicago Record-Herald.

The Panama Canal Dispute.

To the uninitiated and the average countryman the Panama Canal is an American enterprise and can be operated and managed as this government sees fit. Uncle Sam should not show any "yellow streak" in dealing with this question so far as it affects other nations. We must be fair and just, but we must at the same time teach our young Americans that we are brave and capable. The canal belongs to the United States and is being paid for by the people of this country. Let's run it then!

Morgan's Goodwill.

Perhaps the most delicate and interesting problem that has confronted the state comptroller's office is offered by the will

Summer White House Near Cornish, N. H., Soon Will Be Ready For President Wilson's Family.

Harlakenden, the beautiful country estate of Winston Churchill, the author, near Cornish, N. H., is being prepared for occupancy by President Wilson and his family as the summer White House. Mrs. Wilson and her daughter will go there early in the summer, and the president will spend there whatever leisure he may have. The summer executive offices will be in the government building at Windsor, Vt., which is not far from Harlakenden. Telegraph lines and other facilities are being installed there. The Churchill estate has peaceful and beautiful surroundings, many well made drives giving access to some of the finest scenery in America. The house has all modern facilities necessary to comfort and convenience and yet is far removed from the rush of city life. The upper photograph in this illustration shows a general view of the house at Harlakenden and the entrance and the lower the drawing room in the big house.

of J. P. Morgan, which was filed for probate yesterday and will be formally proved today. The problem is this: What value shall be placed on that asset of the estate known as good will? Under the law good will is subject to an inheritance tax the same as any other asset. The legacy of J. P. Morgan's name and reputation for integrity, bequeathed to his business firm through the younger Morgan, will have to be estimated in figures before the amount of the tax can be determined. Expert appraisers will have to know the net profits of the firm for several years back, and in addition will be compelled to translate into terms of money the sentimental value, as applied to the firm's business, of Mr. Morgan's name.—New York Sun.

ISLES OF SHOALS SCENE OF AN EXPERIMENT

Government Is Testing the Flying Possibilities of the Gypsy Moths.

Agents of the agricultural department of the United States government have been at the Isles of Shoals conducting important experiments to determine the capacity of the gypsy moth to negotiate distances. It is the intention of the government to ascertain how far from the mainland the destructive moth can fly, and if the beautiful foliage of the island summer resorts of the New England coast is being affected by the ravages of the pest. A crew of field workmen employed by the department came to this city and chartered a steamer to take the apparatus to the islands, Appledore Island, the most important, largest, and highest of the group of islands situated in the Atlantic ocean, nine miles off the shores of Maine and New Hampshire was selected as the scene of the experiments. The crew has been at the islands about a week and is now preparing to return to the mainland. So far as known the crew did not discover the existence of the gypsy moth at the Isles of Shoals but the brown leaf moth was found in great quantities and the foliage of the ocean islands has suffered. Residents of the islands who stopped there the year round informed the field crew that they have not seen the gypsy moth so far out.

Before departing from the islands the crew will erect a high and wide wire fence. This fence of fine wire with narrow holes is expected to pick up any moths that may go from the mainland, and representatives of the agricultural department will make an-casual visits to Appledore Island in search of the moth. The brown leaf moth it is assumed was carried to the islands on the steamers that ply between the islands and this port, and also in the luggage of the summer visitors. While both forms of the moth are said to have unusual propelling power it is said by the government experts that it is doubtful if either the brown leaf or the gypsy moth could fly five miles in the cold and brisk winds that cross the sea.

ELIOT (ME.) ROADS.

Editor The Herald:—Dear Sir: In the Herald last night we notice an article that Dr. Willis had an accident to his auto on one of the cross roads in Eliot. That road was called Beach road, and that and Hanson roads have been dangerous to life and travel for years, and allowed to remain so for years by the boards of selectmen of our town. Let us hope the selectmen will this year see that something is done to make the roads mentioned in better condition. (Signed) One who has taken your paper for seven years.

Rev. I. B. Terry of North Adams, Mass., will conduct the services at the Advent Christian church next Sunday, 2:30 p. m. Subject: "Essential Unity of Christian Believers." 7 p. m. Subject: "Prodigal Son."

EXPERIENCE

The world was made when a man was born, He must taste for himself the forbidden springs; He can never take warning from old fashioned things; He must fight as a boy, he must drink as a youth, He must kiss, he must love, he must swear to the truth Of the friend of his soul; he must laugh to scorn The hints of deceit in a woman's eyes— They are clear as the wells of Paradise!

And so he goes on till the world grows old, Till his tongue has grown cautious, his heart has grown cold, Till the smile leaves his mouth, till the ring leaves his laugh And he shirks the bright headache you ask him to quaff. He grows fond of men, and with women pallid, And distrustful of both when they're out of his sight, Then he gets for his plate and drinks for his head, And lives for his pleasure—and dies when he was dead. —John Boyle O'Reilly terday morning. They left no forwarding address. So far as I know, they made no effort to conceal their identity." Borden said yesterday that he was convinced that there was a deep motive underlying the flight of his daughter with two women and that he did not believe the affair was merely a lark. "The whole thing is too deep for me," said Mr. Borden at the Hotel Manhattan. "What the motive was I do not know." Up to a late hour this afternoon the auto party had not arrived, but the noon train brought two private detectives here.

IF CONSTIPATED OR BILIOUS—"CASCARETS"

No Biliousness, Headache, Sour Stomach or Constipation

Purged tongue, bad taste, indigestion, sallow skin, and miserable headaches come from a torpid liver and clogged bowels, which cause your stomach to become filled with undigested food, which sours and ferments like garbage in a swill barrel. That's the first step to untold misery—indigestion, foul gases, and breath yellow skin, mental fears, everything that is horrible and nauseating. A Cascaret tonight will give your constipated bowels a thorough cleansing and straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a ten cent box from your druggist will keep you feeling good for months. Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then to keep their stomach, liver and bowels regulated, and never know a miserable moment. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle, cleansing too.

DINNER PARTY AT Y. M. C. A.

Young Men Entertained By Business Men

A committee of the Business Men's Association, connected with the Y. M. C. A., entertained the young men last evening who had served at the tables during the winter meetings. The young men were invited with their young ladies to attend a dinner given in their honor at the rooms last evening and the affair was carried out with much credit to the committee in charge.

H. B. Yeaton, Dr. F. S. Towle, James McPhee and E. L. Patterson, with Secretary Parker and Duncan Billings served. Mayor D. W. Badger and Mrs. Badger were guests, and at the close of the dinner the parlors were turned over to the young men and their guests and a most enjoyable evening was passed.

The following menu was served: Grape fruit, tomato soup, baked halibut, green peas, mashed potatoes, ice cream, assorted cake, cocoa.

The following young people were the guests: James Quirk, Raymond Pal-

MYSTERIOUS PASSENGER

Man With Black Face and Woman's Garb on Dover Train.

A passenger on the 5:27 p. m. train from Boston on Friday was certainly some attraction to those who were on to the game when the train arrived here.

This passenger dressed as a woman was sized up after taking the Dover train here by some lady passenger, and they are positive that it was a man in female wearing apparel. The party was dressed in mourning with a heavy veil and the face was covered with burned cork. He made a bad job with the cork and the white fleck could be seen on the neck. The party appeared to be very nervous and kept close to the glass in the car window. On arriving at Dover some women passengers did a little gum shoe work. They sized up the rig, and could plainly see that it was not a woman from the shoes worn and the way the mysterious passenger arranged the hat and veil. Regardless of the detective work by the Dover women, the dark faced individual was not long in making a complete disappearance after arriving at Dover.

"THE BARBER OF SEVILLE"

M. Jose Mardones the wonderful prima basso of the Boston Opera Company, is one of the noted stars who will be heard next Thursday evening at the Portsmouth Theatre in a fifty minute version, with costumes and scenery, of Rossini's grand opera, "The Barber of Seville."

As Don Basilio, the music master, M. Mardones has a splendid opportunity to display the glorious of his voice, as deep and perfect as an organ in its tone. But not alone in the lower register is it perfect; he can sing the purest baritone and an admirable demonstration of his artistry was the recent singing of the baritone role in "I Pagliacci" on an emergency at the Boston Opera House, on a Saturday matinee. The same evening he sang the basso role of Escamillo in Carmen, and his Torador's song from that opera is the best in his concert repertoire.

Of the other stars in the company particular mention is due to Mme. Evelyn Scotney, the Rosina, whose truly phenomenal coloratura work makes her the equal of any living soprano. As the governess, Bertha, Mlle. Bernstine Gauthier shows her contralto admirably, while the men assigned to the various parts are uniformly excellent. M. Rodolfo Fornara is The Barber, M. Howard White, The Doctor Bartolo, and M. Alfred Rancilla the Count Almaviva.

Mlle. Myrna Sharlow, prima donna soprano will be heard only in the concert division of the program, as will M. Raoul Romito, primo tenore, for whom no parts were found in The Barber cast.

TO PROCURE PLANS.

Portsmouth Lodge, B.P.O.E., Has the Building Fever.

Portsmouth Lodge of Elks has the building fever. At the meeting Thursday night Exalted Ruler Raphael L. Costello appointed a committee to procure plans as they deem advisable for either an enlargement and remodeling of the present Elks' home on Pleasant street or for the erection of a new building which would contain stores and offices, lodge halls and a public dance hall. The present membership of the lodge is 427 and twelve applications for membership were received at the meeting last night. If that comparative growth continues the lodge will soon find its quarters insufficient to accommodate its members. Arrangements are under way for the entertainment of the Association of New Hampshire Elks in this city in August, a public flag day in June, the celebration of the lodge's twenty-fifth anniversary in September and the annual memorial service.

OWNER CAN FIX PANAMA CANAL TOLL

Olney's Opinion Before the International Lawyers.

Washington, April 25.—The United States, as owner of the Panama Canal, has the right to fix such terms as it pleases, and the neutrality of the waterway applies to its users only and not the United States. This was the view expressed today by Richard Olney, formerly Secretary of State, whose speech was read before a meeting of the American Society of International Law. Mr. Olney did not attend.

"It is clear," Mr. Olney's speech continued, "that a Nation or a state does not convey away its property or sovereignty except by terms that are clear and susceptible of no other meaning, and that where the meaning can be taken to favor the United States, it is the clear right of the United States to urge that it be held that the words 'all nations' do not mean to include the United States. However, it is not necessary to rely upon this presumption, as the United States is owner and can fix such terms as it pleases."

"If the question is submitted to arbitration," Mr. Olney said, "it should not be submitted to the Hague, but to a special tribunal. The Hague would be partial, an admitted all European Powers are implicated in the outcome."

Another speaker who compared the relative interest of the United States and Great Britain at the various stages of the Panama Canal negotiation, was Chandler H. Anderson, formerly counselor of the State Department, who, in effect declared that "the United States is clearly entitled to exempt its own vessels from the payment of tolls or to refund such tolls."

The session started with a discussion of the history of the canal, delivered by Prof. E. D. Warfield, president of Lafayette College. Following him the real "looking of horns" took place. Almost a dozen members of the association are prepared to defend their beliefs in free passage or in the imposition of a charge on foreign shipping.

Rear Admiral Charles H. Blackton, retired; Lewis Nixon, of New York and Prof. Eugene Wambaugh of Harvard University were allied in addressing themselves to the question: "Does the expression 'all Nations' in article 3 of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty, include the United States?"

THE STATE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE STATE BOARD OF HEALTH

Regulation No. 2 Relating to the Common Drinking Cup.

At a meeting of the State Board of Health on April 15, 1913, the following was adopted:

Whereas, An order issued by the State Board of Health under the provisions of chapter 2, Laws of 1904, and made effective July 1, 1912, prohibiting the use of the common drinking cup on railway trains, in railway stations, in public and private schools and at the state educational institutions, has demonstrated the practicality of doing away with a practice dangerous to public health, and

Whereas, Continued observation and investigation have proven beyond question that the common drinking cup may convey disease of a most serious character, therefore, in the interest of public health, it is further ordered, That on and after July 1, 1913, the use of the common drinking cup is hereby prohibited in any public park, street or way, and in any building or premises used as a public institution, hotel, theatre, or public hall; provided that this regulation shall not be held to preclude the use of drinking cups, glasses, or other vessels, that are thoroughly cleansed by washing in boiling water after each individual use; nor shall it be held to preclude the use of sanitary devices for individual use only.

Per order of the board,
Irving A. Watson, Secretary.

CONCORD WOMAN WELL REMEMBERED

Boston, April 26.—The will of John W. Fletcher, the pianist, who committed suicide at Hotel Delham Tuesday afternoon, was led just before the closing time of the probate office at East Cambridge yesterday afternoon. It was made in 1903, and witnessed by C. W. Kennedy, W. L. Atkinson, and C. W. Bowman of New York, Charles Knapp, treasurer of the Middlesex Safe Deposit and Trust Company, Lowell, is named executor and trustee. No valuation of the estate was filed with the will. It is estimated that the testator left about $35,000.

Cameron A. Patchin of New York, where Fletcher had an office, is the chief beneficiary, being willed all the property in the New York suite of Fletcher, in addition to receiving a straight bequest of $1000 to be paid within 60 days of Fletcher's death, a bequest of $5000 every three months for a period of three years, and the income from a trust fund established by turning all the residue of the estate, after the gifts are taken out, into each.

At the end of six years the entire fund is to go to Patchin, and in the case of his death before that time, the fund is to go to the Lowell General Hospital for free beds, in memory of the testator's mother.

The private bequests include $500 and the homestead at 49 Powell street Lowell, to his aunt, Laura A. Abbott of Concord, N. H., $1000 each to Annie L. Couledge of Westfield, Dr. Hansom A. Greene of Lowell, Daniel T. and Nancy Mason of Norridge-vock, Me. Albert H. Hews of Reno, Nev., is bequeathed personal effects, including a ring said to have been formerly the property of the King of Burma.

Thos. H. Preston, the colored servant of the Boston office of the pianist, is bequeathed $2500 for "faithful service."

The residue of the estate is willed to Patchin under the terms of a trust.

UNCLE JACE'S STORY.

About the Bars and How He Failed to Get a Job.

"The weather havin' been the on-comfortest kind, an' the water considerable choppy, that mornin', said the man from the Knob country, 'none of us hadn't been out arip' (trout yet, an' we was so put out about the prospect that we wa'n't even sayin' a word about fishin' as we sat aroun' the stove at Hiram's tavern, but was busy settlin' the tariff question on' bustin' up the trusts when the stranger come in.

"He come in so sudden that we couldn't tell which way he had come from, but an he had his fishpole all done up piece in a bag an' his fish basket strapped across his shoulder the suspicion was nat'ral that goin' fishin' was his'n likely the excuse for his bein' amongst us. 'Pore anybody could say a word to him or him say a word to anybody Uncle Jace opened up, jest as if he was goin' on with the subject previous before the meetin', and he says:

"'No, sir, Dan!', says he fer all the world like that was what he had been layin' down to me but an' heavy, 'there isn't much use of goin' fishin' fer trout sense the law took to throwin' its practice arm around bars, just at the very time of year, too, when they're the ugliest an' snappiest an' prawnlike an' determined fer runnin' us outen the woods, whether or no.

"'The idee of protectin' bars,' says he, 'so they increase an' multiply an' knock the trout fishin' endways, even though a feller is willin' to take his life in his hands an' go out to risk it to get a few!' says Jace, lookin' so indignant that seemed like he couldn't scarcely hold himself down, 'fetti'ly as to strangers, Dan!', says he.

"'It's bad enough,' says he, shakin' his head, 'fer us fellers that knows the ways an' the natur' of bars an' how to adrmish up keep outen their reach an' to circumvent 'em so as to get a hook in the water now an' then without bein' poked an' clawed by 'em,' says he; 'but as to strangers goin' innocent an' unbeknownst amongst 'em, it's a shan an' a shame!

"'I dunno, though, Dan!', says he, shakin' his head ag'in, 'seem'n' like, 'but what it serves 'em right, arter all, if they won't take some on along with

$3.50 Recipe Free For Weak Men

Send Name and Address Today.
You Can Have It Free and Be Strong and Vigorous

I have in my possession a prescription for nervous debility, lack of vigor, weakened memory, falling memory and hunched back, brought on by excessive, unbalanced or the follies of youth, that has cured so many worn and nervous men right in their own homes without any additional help or medicine—that I think every man who wishes to regain his manly power and virility, quickly and quietly, should have a copy. So I have determined to send a copy of the prescription free of charge, in a plain, ordinary sealed envelope to any man who will write me for it.

This prescription comes from a physician who has made a special study of men and I am convinced it is the surest acting combination for the cure of deficient manhood and vigor failure ever put together.

I think I owe it to my fellow man to send them a copy in confidence so that any man anywhere who is weak and discouraged with repeated failures may stop dragging himself with harmful patent medicines, and get what I believe is the quickest-acting, most reliable, upbuilding, Spot-Touching remedy ever devised, and so cure himself at home quietly and quickly. Just drop me a line like this: 'Dr. A. B. Robinson, 472 Lock Building, Detroit, Mich., and I will send you a copy of this splendid recipe in a plain ordinary envelope free of charge. A great many doctors would charge $3.00 to $5.00 for merely writing out a prescription like this—but I send it entirely free.

em to look out for the bars an' shun-vent the pesky varmint, so as to give 'em a chance to fish—a job, says Uncle Jace, 'that's cheap at twenty shillin's a day an' found, says he, gittin' all worked up, an' you jest out seen how sprited he was as he turned an' see the stranger standin' there.

"'Oh, howdy do?' says Jace, pleasin' an' cheerin'. 'All rigged up fer the trout, eh? Now, which of our smilin' waters mout you have your mind set on to, if it's a fair question?' says he, an' smilin' hisself as the flowers in May.

"'Well,' says the stranger, smilin' back to Uncle Jace, 'Big an' Little Biler an' Ratler Run has been rather mentioned to me as bein' where trout is apt to bite consid'ble,' says he.

"'Uncle Jace all but gasped. 'Big an' Little Biler an' Ratler Run!' says he. 'The very worst creeks there is in the hull ding Knob country fer takin' a feller's life in his hands to go fishin' onto!' says he. 'Of course,' says Jace, 'if a feller only dast to kill the interferin' critters he could kill his gun along to help out with the fishin', an' betwixt knockin' of 'em over he mout have time to get his hook in fer a yell, but it'd cost him $50 fer every bar he knocked over, an' that'd be apt to make what few trout he managed to catch come a little high,' says Uncle Jace, shakin' his head pityin' like at the stranger, who sat down, an' starlin' at Uncle Jace, sorty gasped out:

"'Well,' he gasps. 'This does heat all.' 'Should say it did!' says Jace, agreein' with the stranger, nat'rally thinkin' he had grasped his idee of what it was that heat all. 'Should say it did!' says Jace. 'An' it's a shan an' a shame!' says he. 'Take that young feller that come up from New York fether day, Dan!', says he, turnin' to me fer sympathy fer his young feller from New York. 'On his way to fish Big Biler he was, too. I told his he'd better not, not unless he took some us along with him that knowed the ways of bars an' how to circumvent 'em, though it'd be askin' a good deal to 'spect to get one for 20 shillin' a day, no matter how good the fishin' was. Big Biler or Little Biler an' Ratler Run either bein' cheap at $3 and p'tic'lar good findin'; but he went without him'n one o' each. To Big Biler, Can!', says Uncle Jace, spreadin' out his hand as if to beg of me to look him think of anybody doin' the likes of that.

"'To Big Biler, Dan!' says he, 'without one o' each!' 'Daniel,' says Uncle Jace, 'that young feller from New York hadn't hardly set foot along the creek when up riz a big she one with three little cubs at her heels an' she made for that poor man. Senein' that he had took his life in his hands an' not knowin' the law he pulls out his pistol an' bangs away at her. He missed her, but sent a bullet clean through one o' her cubs, layin' it out cold.

"'No tellin' what'd a happened to him then, Dan!', says Uncle Jace, 'if Eli's Sam, bein' game constable a the New York feller havin' broke the law by killin' that young bar Eli Sam had to do his duty an' he yanked the poor man afore the squire, an' the squire had to do his duty, an' so he soaked the $50 onto him an' the New York feller had to pony up with it. A sin an' a shame, Dan!', says Uncle Jace.

"'An' yit,' says Jace, 'the stubbornness of that New York feller was satch that he was bound to try it ag'in, an' Dan!', without a protectin' hand to stand betwixt him an' takin' his life in his hands! He was bound to try it ag'in, an' sayin' that as that ugly old she one would more'n likely be hangin' round Big Biler to pitch into him if he tried them water ag'in he says he guessed he'd try Little Biler, that bein' a mile beyond Big Biler, an' so over there he went.

"'He was jest on the pint o' throwin' in his line at the end o' the thick alders on the creek when out jumped a sockin' old bar, madder'n snakes, an' it come fer him like a steam engine, with two little cubs followin' of her. He knowed that bar to wunst, an' likewise knowin' the law now he cut sticks up the creek, with the nasty old bar tearin' along arter him. He outran her, though, but it settled his fishin' on Little Biler.

"'The stranger he not a spell, starlin' surter queer at Uncle Jace, an' then he says:

"'Why, this beats all!' he says. 'Nobody didn't say nothin' to me about it over there,' says he, 'an' I been fishin' Big and Little Biler an' Ratler Run fer a week!' says he. 'An' I got son, old sockdloggers, too!' says he, an' u-liverin' his basket it was chuckful o' the biggest trout we had any of us seen in a cawn's age!

"'Then I was glad I hadn't shook Uncle Jace's thinkin' up outen him, like I had that notion to, fer I'd applied that settin' back an' bein' discomfitted that was waitin' fer him. An' you kin gather a little idee as to how discomfitted he was, fer when the stranger, fiddled all but to pieces, asked us what we could be induced to have Uncle Jace didn't tarry long enough to mention what he'd be!' New York Sun.

JAPAN'S NAVY NOT A TOY

Tokio, Japan, April 25.—Satisfaction is generally expressed here over the decision of President Wilson to send Sec. of State Bryan to Sacramento to consult with the legislators there on the question of the proposed alien land ownership legislation.

The majority of the Japanese newspaper editors adopt a more tranquil tone today, but the widely circulated Osaka Mainichi, an independent newspaper in a warlike spirit, points to the Japanese fleet as no toy, and says that if necessary, or if forced thereby by discriminatory legislation, it is capable of vindicating the National honor.

CHINESE SIX COMPANIES

Protest to California Legislature Against Bill That "Shames Us Before the Nations."

Sacramento, Cal., April 25.—The first protest against alien land legislation from the Chinese in California reached the Legislature last night from the Chinese Consolidated Benevolent Association, otherwise known as the Chinese Six Companies. It is in part as follows:

"The Chinese now in California are here by virtue of treaties that guarantee them the common rights of man as defined in the bill of rights of your State Constitution. We have promoted and desire to promote wider and more abundant trade between this state and China.

"We have participated in the movement that has caused China to imitate the example of your country by the adoption of a Republican form of Government. We believe that the great reform in our Government will increase the consuming and commercial capacity of the Chinese people, and vastly increase their trade with the Western Nations.

"As a domesticated Californian we protest that this state's due share of such trade cannot be secured by legislation that humiliates us, brands us with an inferiority and shames us before the Nations.

"Your proposed legislation impairs the capacity of our countrymen to earn a living here and to contribute to the Commonwealth by their labor and enterprise, and we insist that it is unfriendly and inhospitable to the people of the youngest republic in the hands of the greatest republic in the world."

ACTIVE WORK ON HIGHWAY

Augusta, Me.—Active work has begun here on the state roads, completing old contracts. Three builders are now hard at work covering the 10 1/2 mile trunk line between Kittery and Portland with its concrete. Many miles of trunk line are also to be repaired and improved.

Arrangements have been completed for an especially early start on road work at other points in the state, although it was almost impossible to commence road work as early as was hoped for.

COMFORTING WORDS

Many a Portsmouth Household Will Find Them So

To have the pains and aches of a bad back removed, to be entirely free from annoying dangerous, urinary disorders, is enough to make and kidney sufferer grateful. The following advice of one who has suffered will prove comforting words to hundreds of Portsmouth readers.

Mrs. John M. Smart, 122 Gates St., Portsmouth, N. H., says: "Eight or nine years ago I began to suffer from pains in the small of my back which at times changed to a dull grinding ache and if I overexerted my suffering was intensified. I felt tired nearly all the time and had but little energy. Having reason to believe that my kidneys were disordered, I began trying various remedies but without success, until I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at Philbrick's Pharmacy. The contents of two boxes improved my condition in every way."

For sale by all dealers. Price 60 cents. Foster-Milburn, Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name, Doan's and take no other.

The King drag, made from logs placed so as to form a diagonal according to a Missouri man's plan, has been used in this state widely. It has been of great aid in clearing the ponds from mud and greatly improved the otherwise almost impassable roads.
